

PANTS OFF

Punk-Pop with irreverent lyrics for lewd young people !

PANTS OFF are the new PUNK-POP revelation at American Style but "made in Galicia" with pop dose of and irreverent letters and with components born and raised in A Estrada (Pontevedra) and Lugo (both in NW of Spain).

Until arriving at this first disc, a EP-CD titled "Domingo a las 7" (Sunday, 7 pm), the trajectory of Fonso (bass and voice), Rocky (guitar and voice), Diego (guitar and voice) and Varela (drums) as PANTS OFF has been fast and safe from the beginning of the band in September 2006. One first demo in 2007, some change from trio to quartet with Diego's entrance, were giving the present format them.

"Domingo a las 7", the most waited debut disc

The 2008 agenda has been filled, more than 20 live concerts in Galicia, as much in solitaire as sharing venue with Losthopes, All the Cream (both also with discs in Flor y Nata Records), Deaf Noise, Nao or Maryland.

In May'08 was cover at the digital edition of La Voz de Galicia (newspaper) and the group was invited for the live concert of the collective CD "A Estrada en pé".

Summer'08 was been busy, between the CD preparation and some concerts around Galicia, finishing the year with the recording of its first disc. A 5 songs CD filled with "humor and sounds apt for lewd young people" (D. Suárez – La Voz de Galicia).

"Domingo a las 7", el esperado disco de debut

And 2008 culminates itself with the edition of his first disc "Domingo a las 7", a condensed selection of his better pop-punk shoots. A disc intense and worked until the last detail, in which at the first listening you're hanging from "Salir de aquí" (First hit single), "Nadie más", "Fashion victim" or even the sweet "Yo".
